

Peulat Shabbat - write-up

Parshat Shlach Lichah

Procedure:

Divide kids into groups of spies. Assign them each an area of camp to be spies for. Tell the counselor assigned to the group the boundaries of the area. Give the groups 15-20 minutes to go to their designated areas and discuss ways to describe what they see with just saying what part of camp it is. (The goal of this is to be describing the place as though they are talking to someone that has never been to that place - like the spies in the parasha) Reconvene in the Moadon and have each group present their description of their place. Allow the other kids to guess what part of camp it is.

What were the pros: Activity went really well! All kids were involved and excited to participate. Some spy groups even came up with secret spy handshakes and other spy "stuff"!

What were the cons:
We ran out of time towards the end so some groups had more time than others to present.
