Opening Poem - Allie Hirsch

Ilanot! I have a tale
Full of things to make you wail,
Something awful! Something scary!
The crime was awful and the villain hairy!

It happened in the world of Dr. Seuss -
Just moments ago, all heck broke loose.
That evil guy that we call the grinch
Who likes to sneak up on us and pinch
The things that we love the most
More than puppies, rainbows, and cinnamon toast.

The grinch that fiend, jumped out of his book

Yom Dr. Seuss

And with one searing, dirty look, jumped into another with a resounding SPLAT!
Can you guess which book? The Cat in the Hat!
He jumped into the book, like a frog in a lake.
And he kicked the fishbowl and stepped on the cake.

Then he stole the cat's hat - oh man that guy flew
And said "Don't you dare stop me, Thing 1 and Thing 2"

Well you must now, my name is Thing 1
And your role in this tragedy has just begun.
Because, Ilanot, my Thing friends and me
Need your help to set that cat's hat free!

All us Things, we can help you, but you'll lead the way.
And working together, we just might save the day!

But first - before our mission commences
We must think practically - we must come to our senses
Breakfast is a must, if we want to win
So full bellies first - then our adventures begin!
